

Washington Report

by GEORGE ANDREWS
Member of Congress
Third District of Ala.

President Nixon's Cambodian strategy appears to have been a tactical success -- at least in the short run. If it saves lives and shortens the war, it certainly has merit.

I was greatly concerned when our troops were moved into Cambodia. My concern was not based simply on the fact that we had crossed a boundary line into another country, since the enemy we were pursuing was not the Cambodian army, but the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong forces which had been fighting in South Vietnam.

The so-called "neutrality" of Cambodia has been a myth from the very beginning, since these same North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops have been operating in that country for some time.

My principal concern was that we might be expanding our no-win military policy to another front. President Nixon has decided that the enemy's sanctuaries in Cambodia should be destroyed, but, like Lyndon Johnson, he has never seen the wisdom of eliminating the enemy's political and supply bases in Hanoi and Haiphong.

Therefore, we continue to fight a war of grandeur in Vietnam, a slow painful death -- a perfect study of how not to win a war. Even in the Cambodian operations, the President has assured anti-war critics at home and abroad that we will be out of Cambodia by July 1. It is as if we want to make the Communists mad, but not too mad.

General Curtis LeMay, former Chief of the Air Force, once said, "You can never kill off flies until you destroy the manure pile." In this war the manure pile are in North Vietnam, and we haven't touched them, and eventually we don't plan to do so.

Despite the fact that we have dropped more bombs on South Vietnam than were used in both theaters of war in World War II and in Korea, not one bomb has been dropped on a meaningful target in North Vietnam.

Because of this pointless strategy, the flies from North Vietnam are spreading all over Southeast Asia. Arms and ammunition have flowed like a river from Red China and the Soviet Union through Hanoi and Haiphong, eventually getting to Communist field troops, who use them to kill South Vietnamese and American soldiers.

We may not be in a declared war and we may have ruled out a military victory, but 42,000 of our finest young men have died in South Vietnam, and more than 350,000 have been wounded. Declared or not, this is war, and we ought to recognize it as a war and win it -- or get out entirely.

The President says that we will be out of Cambodia by July 1, and that the destruction of enemy sanctuaries in that country will aid our withdrawal from Vietnam. About 150,000 men are expected to come home during the next year. I think that most Americans are willing to give the President his chance to get out of this war. The action proposed by some members of the Senate to cut off funds from the war effort infringes to the powers of the President as commander-in-chief and is probably unconstitutional. At any rate, I shall not be a party to any action that would withdraw support from our fine young men who are fighting in this war or in any way endanger their lives.

General Douglas MacArthur, who knew how to win, said it plainly enough: "There is no substitute for victory." If President Nixon cannot accept this very timely truth, he should bring our boys home.

We would like to express our deep appreciation to the many people who showed such great kindness and concern in the recent death of Mrs. Dixie Clark. We are most grateful to you all.

Mrs. Fulton Clark, Mrs. Magalie Dean Boyd, Mrs. Joe Ann King, 6/18/lp.

Cannon-Lee Nuptials Exchanged

Miss Mary Ann Cannon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Gerald Cannon of Opp, formerly of Elba, was united in marriage with Aubrey Bernard Lee, Jr., son of Dr. and Mrs. Aubrey Bernard Lee, Sr., also of Opp, on Friday evening, June 12th at the First United Methodist Church in Opp at seven in the evening. The sacrament of Holy Matrimony was performed by the Reverend Richard Sigler against a background of nuptial music presented by Mrs. Rufus Purvis at the organ, Mrs. Wheeler Gunnels, cousin of the bride, sang, "One Hand One Heart," and "The Lord's Prayer."

Mrs. Aubrey Bernard Lee, Jr.

The church was centered with a candle-tree holding white candles which were flanked by massive sunburst arrangements of white gladioli, cymathemums, stock and jade palms. Parameters of lilywhite white satin on the altar provided a background for the traditional brass crosses and candelabra whose candles were lighted to signify the beginning of the ceremony. A bouquet of white gladioli and cymathemums was placed before the crosses.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white summer satin, fashioned with full bishop's sleeves, an empire waistline outlined with braided satin and a sweeping train. The Victorian neckline and bib of Alencon lace was heavily beaded in seed pearls and crystals. Her veil of silk illusion was attached to a camellia cap of beaded satin and she carried a cluster of white orchids, pink rosebuds and stephanotis. She wore diamond earrings, a gift of the groom.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Then to us who live in a world of sin and read your Bible daily.

A desperate run... a frantic slide... the feel of the bag against your cheeks... the belated tag of the shortstop's glove. Then a voice, clear, certain... final!

And though the cheers may be laced with hoots and screams of disapproval, you're safe. And nothing can change that fact!

Equally dramatic... and far more important... is the adventure that brings earnest men and women into the Church.

There is a point when we realize the inertia of half-believing. We plunge forward desperately, leaving behind yesterday's skepticism, seeking frantically the Truth that promises meaning and purpose for our life.

Then there's the thrilling moment — the dust of worldly confusion still all around us — when we know in our hearts we have found our faith. And always, above the strains of the organ, even above the clamor of a world unconvinced, there is a voice, clear, certain... final — confirming our Faith.

Vows Exchanged In Wetumpka

July Third. Ceremony Planned By Couple

The engagement and forthcoming marriage of Kathryn Jane Garrett to Billy Jack Ziglar, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Ziglar, of Jack, is announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard P. Garrett, of Baker.

The wedding will be an event of July 3, at 7:30 in the evening from the Pilgrim Rest Baptist Church of Baker.

All friends and relatives are invited to attend the wedding and reception which will follow in the fellowship hall of the church.

The future bride was graduated from Baker High School and is presently a student at O.W.J.C.

The prospective groom-to-be graduated from Troy State University and is now a business teacher at Baker High School.

Miss Brysone Graham, daughter of Mrs. William Bryson Graham and the late Mr. Graham, of Wetumpka, became the bride of Ronald Edward Lee of Troy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fountain Lee, of Troy, on May 30 in the Wetumpka First Presbyterian Church. The Rev. S. Michael O'Brien, brother-in-law of the bride officiated.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother-in-law, wore a gown of white silk peau de soie accented with appliques of Alencon lace embroidered with pearls. Her veil of illusion was attached to a crown of Alencon lace, seed pearls and crystals. She carried a bouquet of white roses and stephanotis.

Miss Ann Lee of Troy, sister of the groom, was maid of honor and bridesmaids were Mrs. Wayne Wilkes, Atlanta; Mrs. James S. Collier, Jr., Wetumpka; Miss Belinda O'Brien and Miss Nancy Anne O'Brien, both of Rome, Georgia and nieces of the bride.

Miss Carol Whorton of Wetumpka, niece of the bride, was flower girl and Joe Lee, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Glen Lee, of Elba, was ring bearer.

The attendants wore floor-length gowns of yellow, white and green velvet with long green velvet sashes. They carried bouquets of white daisies with yellow centers and long green stems.

Mr. Fountain E. Lee served his son as best man. Groomsman were James McCullers of Birmingham, Order Wilson of Andalusia, Freddie Dykes and Harvey Johnson, Jr., of Troy. A reception followed the ceremony in the Fellowship Hall of the Church. The guests were registered by Mrs. Jimmy Lightner and refreshments were served by Jane Low, Rebecca Evans, Brenda McCullers, Gail Dillard, Lorean Maddox, and Dwane Bratton.

Following a wedding trip to points of Florida, the couple now make their home at 804 Company Street, Wetumpka.

day and buying corn that has been lying around all day at bargain prices. All of the good quality is gone and actually they are wasting their time, money and freezer space. The same is true to a certain extent with most vegetables.

The primary purpose of a home vegetable garden is to have quality vegetables. The quality of many vegetables is lost if not harvested and handled properly. For example, sweet corn isn't sweet if it doesn't remain cool after harvest. If sweetcorn is allowed to stay in the sun or in a hot place for several hours after harvest, practically all the sugar turns into starch. Anyone knows that starch isn't as good as sugar.

For best results, the home gardener should harvest sweetcorn in the morning while it's cool and refrigerate or use it as soon as possible. Many people try to fill their freezers with corn by going to a curb market, or farmer's market late in the

For best results, the home gardener should harvest sweetcorn in the morning while it's cool and refrigerate or use it as soon as possible. Many people try to fill their freezers with corn by going to a curb market, or farmer's market late in the Official figures show Cheves outlast other trucks. Going back as far as 1955, for example, over 56 percent of the Cheves built in that model year are still on the job. No competitive make has as many as half of its 15-year-old models still working. And in all the years since, no competitive make can match the steadily high percentage of Cheves still going strong.

LEAFSPOT DISEASE
Chapple Curington of Rt. 2, Enterprise, and Ed Windham of the Damascus Community, and Joel Moody and W. J. Smith of Kingston do as good a job of leafspot control as any growers I know of. Unfortunately, too many folks let leafspot take over.

I saw the results of leafspot control at the Headland Experiment Station last September. There was a vast difference in yields that had been dusted two or three times in comparison with those that had full season control.

FARM SAFETY
The week of July 19-25 has been designated as National Farm Safety Week. Everytime I think of farm safety, I am reminded of the accident that Roy Barlow of Route 4, Elba, had a year or two ago. He still hasn't fully recovered, in his case the tractor was knocked out of gear and the large rear wheel passed over his hip and leg.

With a lot of trucks and tractors in operation now in Coffee County, let's redouble our efforts to have a safe summer in Coffee County.

COUNTY EXTENSION COUNCIL
I had a good visit with Howard Lasseter of Route 1, New Brockton, a few days ago. Lasseter is completing plans for the summer meeting of the Coffee County Extension Council. I understand that the group will meet the night of July 16, in one of the restaurants in Elba. The main speaker will be Mr. Robert Clark, recreation specialist from our Auburn Extension staff. Since just about everybody is interested in recreation, I know that this is going to be a real interesting program.

COOPERATION
W. H. Taylor of Elba and his wife Doris and Bill and Susan are hosting the District 4-H Beef Cattle Judging Contest to be held July 1. Mr. and Mrs. Taylor have really put forth a lot of effort the past few years to make this a successful day for the hundreds of 4-H'ers from the 17 southern Alabama counties. It takes a lot of doing to assemble the classes of beef cattle required not to mention the job of serving lunch to 200 youngsters.

calcium deficiency. I have had several calls in the last few days on this. For tomatoes it is important to spray or dust to control certain diseases. It is necessary to spray every week to keep disease from developing. Two materials, Zineb and Maneb, have been used for years to control some of the worst diseases on tomatoes. These blight on tomatoes and also materials can be used as a spray or as a dust. For most folks it is easier to dust. We have additional information on taking care of tomatoes. A lot of folks have good tomatoes late into the fall where they are properly taken care of. We have full information if you need help.
